Voters' List, 1908.

Muricipality of the Town of Napanee, in the County of Lennox and Addington.

Notice is hereby given that I have transmitted or delivered to the persons mentioned in sections 8 and 9 of the Ontario Voters' List Act the copies required in said section to be so transmitted or delivered of the List, made pursuant to said Act, of all persons appearing by the last revised assessment rell of the said municipality to be entitled to vote in the said numicipality at elections for members of the Legislative Assembly, and at Municipal elections, and that the said list was first posted up in my office at Napanee on the 19th day of October 1908, and remains there for inspection. Electors are called upon to examine the said list and if any omissives or any other errors are found therein to take immediate proceeding to have the said errors corrected according to law.

Dated at Napance, this 19th day of October, A. D., 1908

W. A. GRANGE. Municipal Clerk.

VOIIG ME

Laurier Government Returned to Power with Good Majority.

Wilson Wins in Lennox and Addington, but with Greatly Reduced Majority.

SIR WILFRED LAURIER Premier of the Dominion of Canada

THE FIGHT IN LENNOX.

In Lennox and Addington Mr. F. S. Wartman had an uphill fight all the way through. The lists were not in good shape in many divisions and Mr. Wilson's majority of 489 in the last Dominion election had also to be overcome. In nearly every poll Mr. Wilson's former majorities were reduced and in some instances Mr. Wartman secured a majority. In a few instances the Liberal vote was not as large as in the previous contest. The result in Napanee was a decided surprise to In Lennox and Addington Mr. F. S. the previous contest. The result in Napanee was a decided surprise to everyone. From a majority of 47 for Mr. Wilson in the last election the Liberal workers converted it into a majority for Mr. Wartmau of 32. Among the Liberals it was the younger men who did the work and secured the decisive result and Napanee's young Liberals. who did the work and secured the de-cisive result and Napanee's young Li-berals may be proud of the result. All over Lennox excepting Am-herst Island, the Liberal gains showed good organization and work on the part of the Liberal committees. In the North the standing of the parties ln was not changed as much though the Liberals put up a splendid fight. It was freely said among the conservatives that had the contest continued for another week, Mr. Wartman would surely have been elected as he has been steadily gaining friends since he first accepted the nomination.

THE RETURNS.

F. S. WARTMAN Liberal Candidate, who put up an excellent fight in Lennox and Addington.

NINETY DEATHS

Bear Silent Witness to the Ravages of Kidney Disease.

An alarming fact—but statistics show that in post mortem examinations as to death from all cases, that in over 90 per cent. of such cases kidney disease is present. This almost incredible statement is borne out by years of comparison by most eminent medical men. A warning to humanity that the percentage of those not cursed with kidney taint is very small. South American Kidney Cure relieves in six hours—is nature's preventive—clears the clogged parts—heals and permanently cures.

NEWS NOTES.

Robert L. Willis died at Belleville on Saturday, after an illness extending over several months, aged sixty-five years. The late Mr. Willis was born in Montague.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Macfarlane, Latimer, have the sincerest sympathy of friends in the loss of their three-months-old son, Carman D. Macfar-lane. Mr. Macfarlane is at present in Haileybury.

The total revenue of the United States Government in 1907 from spirituous and malt liquors and from tobacco was $247,458,911, or $2.88 per capita, equal to $14.40 tax on every family.

After the Marathon race in England from Windsor Castle to Shepherd's Bush, it was sagely suggested that Tom Longboat take to the reservation. His latest victory in Montreal will now compel the crictics to admit that the Indian's place is properly in the lime-light as the greatest long distance run-ner the world has ever seen.

Brass Candle Sticks, Candle Lanterns, Oil Lanterns, Gas and Electric, Fixtures.

BOYLE & SON.

Lloyd's Exchange, of London, which will insure against anything from the ruining of crops by drought to the extra expense of twins, has accepted risks from speculators, amounting to $500,000, to be paid if Bryan is elected in return for premiums amounting to about $55,000. This amounts to odds of nine to one against Bryan.

The Kingston Whig says:—The local proprietors got a tip on Sunday that there were several Whitney government spies here to watch for illegal opening of bars from Saturday night opening of bars from Saturday night till Tuesday morning. The hotelmen were thus on guard, and a dry time was experienced, notwithstanding the rain showers. The Whitney govern-ment sends out spies at election time only when the grits have the upper hand. They didn't come here on June last whom the destreate was delayable. last when the electorate was debauched, and bars were wide open? But hat's the Whitney government's sense of fair play.

Longboat, the Indian, won the fifteen mile race at Montreal, on Saturday, afternoon. The reception of Longboat was the greatest ever given to an athlete in that city, and he deserves the greatest credit for running the race as he did. He clipped over one minute off the record by covering the course in the time of 1.25.44. His run, considering the streets, which were in somewhat poor condition, and other obstacles in the way, was something marvellous. The Indian got away to a good start and was never headed. The finish along the line was exciting, even after Longboat had crossed the tape, winning by half a mile.

"You have expressed a desire to meet me," Mabel said determined-ly. "So I have come to you."

"And—and these gentlemen?" Edna inquired, glancing at us, puz-

"They are present to hear what you have to say to me.

She was taken aback.

'I-I have nothing to say to your Highness," the woman faltered. "I merely wished to know whether, when in London, I might call."
"Then listen," exclaimed Mabel.

"The truth is known, and it is useless for you to further conceal it. If you have nothing to say, Mr. Mickman will at once call in the police, and I shall charge you with the murder of the Prince."

'The murder of the Prince!'' she gasped, white to the lips. "I-I did

"Enter! The guilty one is there!"
We pressed forward, and there saw a thin grey-haired woman who had guilt written plainly upon her drawn white face. She had overheard all our conversation, and had been compelled to remain in that chamber, there being no outlet.

"Joliot!" gasped Mabel, amazed.
"My maid!" Then, addressing the cowering, trembling woman, she demanded the truth.

We stood there astonished. There was a silence, long and painful. The contortions of the guilty woman's features were horrible; in her black eyes burned a fierce light, and she trembled in every limb.
"Yes," she cried hoarsely.

she cried hoarsely, after the question had been repeated, " killed him! I killed him because I was jealous! She gave vent to a shrill peal of hideous laughter, as though there were something humorous in that grim and terrible tragedy. It jarred upon our nerves, but it also explained to use the ghastly truth.

The woman Natalie Joliot was hopelessly insane.

"Your Highness recognizes the state of the wretched woman's mind," observed Edna Grainger, with a pitying look. "She has been ever since the homicidal frenzy which seized her on that fatal night and I have now taken her beneath my charge, for with me she is as docile as a child."

The truth was a startling one. We all three stood by in wondering silence. The crime had been committed in a sudden access of madness by that miserable creature who could not be held responsible for her actions. "Roesch and Gechkuloff, with their elaborate preparations for the assassination of the heir to the Bulgarian throne, were murderers at heart, but, by that strange combination of circumstances which so often render truth stranger than fiction, their evil work was accommarked. There seems no doubt," said Ed-"that large sums were raised ir: London and in Paris upon the deed executed by the young Prince, who evidently had no knowledge of its true nature, and during the first six months before the hue-and-

With eager, trembling heart I took her white hand in mine and put to her the question. I knew to her the question. I knew it was presumptuous, almost un-heard of. But, reader, you may readily imagine what overwhelming joy arose within me when she threw her arms passionately about my neck, and as answer raised her face and gave me a warm fond kiss.

Our life to-day is very even, very uneventful, idyllically happy. Under her second title of Countess of no Klagenfurt we were soon afterwards married. Seven Gunnery Accidents Within Two Years.

The number of disasters in the French navy within the last three years, beginning with the loss of the submarines Farfadet in July, 1905, and culminating in the fatal gun accident with the loss of thirteen lives on board the Admiral Latouche-Treville, is attracting evervone's attention

In April, 1906, the premature explosion of a shell in the training ship Couronne killed four men and wounded several others. The court of enquiry did not discover the cause of the accident, which was generally attributed, however, to the 'B' powder.

In March, 1907, the battleship Iena was blown up, with a loss of 107 lives. The court of enquiry was unable to determine the cause of the disaster.

In August, 1907, a gun exploded it the Couronne, killing four and wounding eight. Cause undiscovered.

In February, 1908, the breech of a gun was blown out in the cruiser Descartes and five men were killed. Results of enquiry not revealed. In the same month four men were killed by a similar mysterious accident

WHAT NAVAL GUNNERY COSTS

Target practice in the British Navy is an expensive necessity. Every time a 12 inch gun is fired bang goes $150 of the taxpayers' money; a 9.2 inch gun fires a cordite cartridge which costs $70; and even the 6 inch gun, which is a modest weapon, uses a $13 charge. Shells run from $62.50 to $17.50 for the common varieties, though armor-piercing ones (not used in the erdinary competitions, of course) may cost as much as $130. Then there is the wear and tear of the guns to consider, and this may be reckoned as expensive, seeing that the "life" of each weapon is brief; and while a 6 inch gun costs $8,360, a 9.2 inch runs to $26,250, and a wire-bound 12 inch means an expenditure of quite $50,000.

An Irish dealer, when selling a nag to a gentleman, frequently observed, with emphatic earnestness, that he was an honest horse. After the purchase had been effected the gentleman asked him what he meant by an honest horse. "Why, sir," replied the seller, "whenever I rode him he always threatened to throw me off, and he certainly never deceived me.

In the causes of infant mortality cholera morbus figures frequently, and it may be said that complaints of the bowels are great destroyers of child life. If all mothers would avail themselves of so effective a remedy as Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial many a little one could be saved. This Cordial can be given with safety to the smallest child, as there is no injurious substance in it.

FROZEN TO DEATH IN STORM LAURIER ONCE GAIN

The Blizzard Was Bad for Men and Sheep in the West

A despatch from Medicine Hat, Alta., says: Terrible stories of suffering are coming in from the ranches following the recent storm, which was unprecedented in fury or in the period of the fall at which it swept the country. One death is in the period of the fall at which it swept the country. One death is known to have occurred in the country away to the south of here, and many are feared, as the herders ter, and finally reached the D. D. were caught absolutely without B. ranch more dead than alive, warning away on the prairies. One man whose death is reported was Donald Cameron, herder on Alex. Latest Returns Give Liberals a Majority of 39 Seats.

With 211 Constituencies Reported Grits Have 125 and Conservatives 86-Ontario Showed Total Gain of Two Ridings - New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Western Provinces Are Surprised.

Toronto, Oct. 27.—It is four more years of Laurier. Probably in the general result the public were not surprised, but the good guessers in arriving at their total figures were a long way out in many instances.

At midnight there were 125 Liberals and 86 Conserveitives clothed.

and 86 Conservatives elected. Seven constituencies will vote later.

The surprises were Ontario, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and the west.

Ontario was expected to give a much larger majority to the Conservative party. The majority in the old House was eight, and the Conservatives confidently expected it would exceed 20, some even predicting as many as 40 to the good. But Mr. Borden's followers from Ontario has been increased by two only.

Among the Conservative gains in Ontario were Centre York, North Grey, Parry Sound, North Ontario, West Hamilton, South Bruce, East Peterboro, but they made losses in North Waterloo, Brantford, Stormont, Prince Edward, South Ontario, East Simcoe and North Perth. No one had Prince Edward, South Ontario, East Simcoe and North Perth. No one had any idea that Alex. Maclaren would lose his seat for North Perth. The Perths were to be "solid for Borden," but both went Liberal, and the Simcoes were likewise in the Borden column until the returns began to come in, when Mr. Bennett, the "stormy petrel," was found to have lost his place in the House.

The Conservative leader has two seats to sit in, for he was also elected seats to sit in, for he was also elected in Carleton. As Carleton is a Con-servative hive, he will likely decide to sit for Halifax. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has also too many seats, having been elected for Ottawa as well as Quebec East The following are the latest returns:

A PEACEFUL ARRANGEMEN

Settlement Regarding Bosnia and Herzegovina Is Impending.

be recorded, optimism continues to be the keynote of the situation so far as Turkey, Bulgaria and Austria are concerned. Grand Vizier although Turkey abandoned the Kiamil Pasha is quoted as saying that Austria refuses to appear at any conference of the powers, and her troops already under arms durant for the boat. J. & S. hand, many reports from Austrian and German sources realism that a direct Austro-Turkish settlement regarding Bosnia and Herzegovina is impending. The Bulgarian envoy is still at Constantinople, where he had another interview with the Ministers on Wednesday. All outward indications there point to a peaceful arrangement, although nothing of a convincing nature has developed from the arrest of Gen. Vukotitch, the special Montenegrine envoy to Servia, although the crew everything they had on it will doubtless further inflame the arger of the Montenegrins when it becomes generally known in that country. The best check to the dangerous effervescence in Montenegrous and Servia alike is suppliany conference of the powers, and her troops already under arms durated and set fire to the boat. J. & S. that Germany therefore will also ing the last few days in such a Charlton's tug Fraser, working on decline to participate. On the other manner that any invading Bulgaria boom near by, heard the signals hand, many reports from Austrian an force would find itself menaced nothing of a convincing nature has dangerous effervescence in Monyet come thence confirming the tenegro and Servia alike is supplied by nature, as in a few weeks. The belief that no conference will be called increases everywhere. The story from Athens about fight.

Man in Serious Condition as Result of Assault.

A despatch from London, Ont., says: Herbert Bombard, of 479 York Street, is in a semi-conscious condition as the result of being attacked on a down town thorough-fare on Tuesday night. The man was struck over the heart, and, as he has been a sufferer from heart trouble, the consequences were serious. Although Bombard has not been able to give a detailed account of the attack, he, in his more conscious moments, claims that a man by the name of Watson was the one who struck him, because he refused to make a monetary loan to the latter when approached. One of Rombard's ribs is broken and this pierced his lung.

THE PLOWING SEASON

Ancient Superstitions of the Tillers of the Soil.

SACRIFICES TO THE GODS.

Customs That Were In Vogue Among the Romans of Old -- Ceremonies That Are Observed In India and China-Rites of the Siamese Farmers.

The formal inauguration of the plowing season is very ancient and still is observed in some parts of the world.

Among the Romans by the institution of various religious festivals connected with agriculture the seasons came to be regarded with a sort of sacred reverence. Before the old Roman put the plow into the ground he went to the temple of the goddess of earth, Tellus, one of whose priests performed certain propitiatory rites. Virgil in his "Georgies" advises the Roman husbandman to observe the signs on heaven according to the crop lie desires to produce. The time to plow for flax, barley and the sacred poppy, was when balance has equalized the hours of day and sleep and halves the world exactly between light and shade. When Taurus ushers in the year with his gilded horns and Sirius sits facing the threatening bull is time for beans. For wheat and spelt the Pleiades should hide themselves from your eyes with the dawn. Many have begun before Maria sets, but the desired crop has first of all the poet admonishes the farmer to "honor the gods and offer sacrifices to Ceres."

In India there are certain days when it is unlawful to plow. Mother Earth is supposed to sleep six days in every menth, and on such days she refuses to be disturbed in her slumber.

In northwest India the cultivator employs a pundit to select an auspicious time for the commencement of plowing. Great secrecy is observed. In some places the time selected is in the night; in others daybreak is the customary time.

The pundit goes to a field, taking a brass drinking vessel and a branch of the sacred mango tree, which is efficacious in frightening away evil spirits that may haunt the field. Prithivi, the broad world, and Sesha Naga, the great snakes which support the world, are supposed to be propitiated and reconciled by this ceremony. The pundit satisfies himself as to the direction in which the great snake is lying, for it occasionally moves about a little to ease itself of the great burden of the broad world which it carries. The pundit then marks off an imaginary line. Five (a lucky number) clods of earth are thrown up, and water is sprinkled in the trench five times with the sacred mango bush to insure productiveness. Caution must be exercised lest the charm be broken and prospective fortune imperiled. The farmer must remain secluded during the foltowing day; no salt must be eaten, no money, grain or fire given away.

Among the Karnas before plowing the farmer makes a burnt offering of butter and molasses in his own field and again at the village shrine.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little merve that really is all at fault, and the strength of the cardiac, or Heart Nerve Tamps, meaning the control little merve of the three more governing strength. Without that the Heart more governing strength. Without that the Heart more governing strength. Without that the Heart more governing trength, Without that the Heart more governing trength, Without hat the Heart seed on have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Thoop's Restorntive has in the past done so much for weak and alling Hearts. ### BREACH OF PROMISE.

Manner In Which the Law Treats It In Different Countries.

England is the best place, from the plaintiff's point of view, for a breach of promise action. All other countries seem to regard with grave suspicion any attempt to recover monetary compensation for the loss of a prospective husband, and unless the plaintiff has a very strong case indeed it is never worth her while to carry her grief into the law courts.

A MICROSCOPE.

How It Opens Up the Wonders of the World of Nature.

If you want to keep your boy out of mischief, give him a microscope, not one of the elaborate, intricate, expensive affairs that the bacteriologists use when hunting for germs, but a common one with two or three lenses that revolve on a pivot and fold into a cover which protects them from injury when carried in the pecket.

There is no better way of interesting the boy in the wonders of the natural world than this simple contrivance, which opens to his eyes visions of a universe of which he knew nothing. Seen through the microscope, the most insignificant flower becomes a thing of wonderful beauty. The interior of a nasturtium is a fairy cavern, showing a dozen different tints and hues of color, with dainty white stalactites and stalagmites almost touching each other midway between floor and roof.

He will find monsters, too, for the head of an ant seen srough a microscope is a terrible object, and he cannot help thinking what an awful aspect such a creature would present if it were as big as a horse. He has heard about the creatures that are to be found in water from a stagnant pool. He will find them for himself and show them to other boys, and all his crowd will become interested and bring in things to look at and wonder about. He may not develop into a Darwin, but if he has any faculty of observation at all it will be sharpened

THE SWISS PENSION.

The distinctive thing about a Swiss pension is the table d'hote. The table d'hote has its own set of conventions. You can always tell an old pensionnaire by the way he sputters when he eats his soup, by the way he stabs a piece of bread from the bread basket with his knife and by the keen eye he has for picking out the best piece of meat. By some mysterious system, known only to the maid, she always offers you the platter with the fork seductively placed in the smallest, poorest portion. Your skilled pensionpaire is never caught by this trick. He always removes the fork from the piece indicated and rakes over every thing till he finds the best. This is not impolite-in a pension. It is the con ventional thing.

In order to prevent any undue advantage the maid has a system of rotation First she begins at the head of the table and works down the right side. With the next course she begins at the foot and works up the left side. If she forgets where she stopped and begins wrong there is an immediate howl from those who are getting cheated. This causes many bitter and stormy arguments. - Albert Edwards in Outlook.

The Chinese begin plowing on the first day of their solar year. Anciently the rites which were celebrated by the Chinese at plowing time were elaborate, but rationalistic sovereigns eliminated one expensive religious rite after another until nothing was left except the imperial act of homage to heaven and earth and agriculture in the ceremonial plowing.

The Siamese observe a rite called Raakua about the middle of May, which is preliminary to the plowing season, and it is not proper for any one to plow until the ceremony is over. The court astrologers determine the time for it. On the day fixed by them the minister of agriculture, who is always a prince or nobleman of high rank, goes with a procession to a piece of ground some distance from the capital. Where the festivities are to take place a new plow, to which a pair of buffaloes are yoked, is in readiness, decorated with flowers and leaves.

The minister guides the plow over the field, closely watched by the speclators, who are especially interested in the length and folds of the silk of lower garments, because the prosrity of the season and its characterties, wet or dry, are to be predicted from these as he follows the plow. If he robe rises from his knee there will he disastrous rains. If it falls below his ankles there will be a drought. If the folds reach midway between knee and ankle the season will be prosperons.

After a proper number of furrows have been turned old women strew train of different kinds in them and bulls are released from the yoke and allowed to feast upon the seeds. The grain which the animals eat most freely will be scarce next harvest, and that which they refuse to take will be abundant.

In Yorkshire it was considered unwise to disturb the earth with plow or spade on Good Friday.-Exchange.

of promise action. All other countries seem to regard with grave suspicion any attempt to recover monetary compensation for the loss of a prospective husband, and unless the plaintiff has a very strong case indeed it is never worth her while to carry her grief into the law courts.

In France breach of promise cases are rare, for the simple reason that the law requires the plaintiff to prove that she has suffered pecuniary loss. Now, this is not an easy thing to do on the part of the lady, especially in a country where a girl without a dot+ that is, a marriage portion-has a poor chance of finding a husband. Holland and Austria have adopted the French system, and the result has been about the same. Breach of promise actions are rare, the injured damsels or their relatives usually taking the law into their own hands.

Practical Germany, as might be expected, has perhaps the best method for solving this problem. When a young couple become engaged they have to go through a public betrothal ceremony that ought to knock all the shyness out of them. In the local town hall the pair declare their affection, willingness to marry, etc., ending by signing a collection of documents that apparently leave no loophole for escape. But if either party to the contract wishes to withdraw another journey is undertaken to the town hall and another collection of documents igned, witnessed and sealed. Then the authorities determine the question of compensation-should it be claimed. In this connection it may be said that the man can and often does claim a solatium for his wounded feelings. The usual award is one-fifth of the marriage dowry. It is easy to up erstand when all this is remediered how loath the young people 67 Germany are to break their betrothal onths.

As the law of Italy affords little or no protection whatever to filted damsels or swains, it is not surprising that the stiletto should be the favorite mode of deciding breach of promise cases. The Italian law demands that the person suing for the breach shal produce a written promise to marry from the defendant; otherwise the action cannot proceed. This difficulty is almost insurmountable, and the Italian judges are seldom troubled to adjudicate between one time lovers.

To bring an action for breach of promise of mariage against a reigning monarch is an achievement, but it has been done, and by an English lady. Miss Jenny Mighell sued the sultan of Johore, and as there was a doubt whether the dusky one was actually a reigning monarch the case was allowed to come into court, but the judge quickly disposed of the action by ruling it inadmissible for the reason referred to, and Miss Mighell was nonsuited.

It is remarkable that one of the two actions which have brought verdicts for £10,000 each to the plaintiffs should have had for its defendant the editor of a matrimonial paper. The second case was between a well known actress and the eldest son of an earl.-London Tit-Bits.

Weight of a Lion.

What does a lion weigh? Those who know the look of the king of beasts best and how small his little body really is will probably come farthest from the truth. About 300 to 350 pounds is a usual estimate, but a full grown lion will tip the scales at no less than 500 pounds. Five hundred and forty pounds is the record for an African lion. His bone is solid and heavy as ivory. The tiger runs the lion very close. A Bengal tiger killed by an English officer scaled 520 pounds. A tiger this size has, however, considerably more muscular strength than the higgest lion

A COURSE OF OX.

Try It as an Antidote For the Ills-of the Strenuous Life.

In the choice of motor power allow me to suggest the ox. The horse leans forward to pull and even helps himself along by bobbing his head. He jerks a load out of a hard place by plunging bodily against the collar, stopping and lunging again. He strains through a hard place and then starts suddenly forward at his release. He works himself into a lather, and you, if you are the right kind of person, cannot help feeling for him and assisting him with inward stress and strain.

The ox does not bob a horn. He simply journeys, and the load goes along. When he comes to a tough place his. pasterns do not bend down, he does not equat to pull, he does not pinch along on the toes of his shoes, he seldom blows, and he does not know how to sweat." He does not exert himself at a patch of woven soil and then hurry up when he is past it. The chain becomes stiffer, and the yoke sits solider to his neck, and that is all. There is no sign of effort. The earth may grit its teeth and crunch as it swallows the plow, but the ox stalks on his way. With the share deep or shallow or lifted entirely and hanging from the axle, whether he is plowing earth or air, it makes no difference to him. His most ponderous task is still himself, and he heeds no incidentals.

He is out for a stroll. He does not allow work to interfere with the even tenor of his way. His tendons are rigged to his outstanding rump bones like so much spar and tackle, and he goes along by interior leverage. Inside his old woman hulk is the necessary engine work, and he will neither go slower for this thing nor faster for that. There is much about him besides his disposition that is self contained. He

SCARED THE ROBBERS.

Odd Incident In England In the Eighteenth Century.

For a time during the eighteenth century in England there was a hill in the robbery industry owing to an odd incident. Shortly after the execution of an English burglar named Elliston a curious communication purporting to have been written by him was put into circulation. "Now, as I am a dy-ing man," it ran, "I have done something which may be of good use to the public. I have left with an honest man-the only honest man I was ever acquainted with-the names of all my wicked brethren, the places of their abode, with a short account of the chief crimes they have committed, in many of which I have been the accomplice and heard the rest from their own mouths. I have likewise set down the names of those we call our setters, of the houses we frequent and all of those who receive and buy our stolen goods. I have solemnly charged this honest man and have received his promise upon oath that whenever he hears of any rogue to be tried for robbery or housebreaking he will look into his list and if he finds there the name of the thief concerned to send the whole paper to the government. Of this I here give my companions fair and public warning and hope they will take it." It is said the hint was so effectual that for a long time pick-pockets and burglars in that part of England went into panie stricken retirement. And, this being so, it is just as well they did not know that the letter was a clever forgery, the work of that prince of wits and humorists, Dean Swift.

An Original Oath of Allegiance.

In the old days when the Spanish province of Aragon was a proud and ndependent monarchy the people used when choosing their king the following singular form of election:

A BRIER PIPE.

Get One That Is Smooth Inside the Bowl, Says a Smoker.

A collegian who prides himself on the sweetness and color of his brier wood pipes and pretends to know a lot more about them than any ordinary smoker spent half an hour in a tobacco shop making an addition to his already large collection.

Some pipes he discarded because of the grain in the wood. There was too much stripe or too much birdseye, he remarked. When he found one which suited him he put it aside until he had gathered three or four which apparently were all right, and then came his final test to pick out the best of them

He held each with the bowl toward the light, then slowly rubbed his little finger inside. Two he discarded, then repeated the operation with the others until only one remained out of the discard. That one he bought.

"Want 'em smooth inside," he explained. "A brier pipe roughly finished inside the bowl isn't worth bothering with. I wouldn't take one for a gift; wouldn't take the trouble to try to break it in, for it will never be any good. It won't cake up right, and it'll never be nice and sweet.

"I've got a theory that when the inside of the bowl is rough all the little edges and points of wood char and burn the first time you smoke it, and a burnt pipe is no good. That's why I always take a pipe that has a bowl as smooth on the inside as on the out.

"Then it doesn't char, but cakes up evenly and gets good in a little time. Maybe the theory is wrong, but it has worked out well in my own experience, and some of my friends who have tried it agree with me."

One Industry of the Pesky Ant.

Out in Burma and the far east, where sandalwood is worth its weight in silver, the pestiferous ant is a valuable assistant to the loggers of that preclous timber. The hard and fragrant heartwood alone has value, but as the tree grows this valuable heart is overlaid by a soft and worthless layer forming two-thirds of the trunk. When a tree is felled and cut into lengths the loggers let the timber lie. At once the ants begin work upon the soft wood, which is sappy and sweet enough to attract them. In a few weeks, less than a month in the case of the largest butts, the ants deliver the heartwood free of all the worthless sapwood.

Explaining.

"Aha, Mose! What are you doing with those chickens?"

'Is dem yo' chickens, boss?" "You got them out of my coop."

His Plan Was Simple.

Frederick the Great once requested his generals to submit to him plans of campaign for a supposititious case. Hans Josehim von Ziethen, the famous cavairy general, produced a queer diagram in black ink. It represented a big blot in the center, intersected by two black lines, whose four terminals ended each in a smaller blot. The king* was furious and upbraided his old comrade in arms bitterly for what he considered disrespect.

In explanation Von Ziethen said: "Why, your majesty, I am the large blot in the center. The enemy is any one of the four smaller blots. He can march upon me from the right or left, from the front of rear. If he does I simply advance upon any of the four lines and lick him where I find him."

Frederick was satisfied.

MOUNTAIN SLIDING.

Hawaiian Small Boys Simply "Drop Down the Edge of the Scenery."

Water sports are by no means the only vigorous athletics indulged in by the boys of Hawaii. Mountain climbing is a favorite pastime, for there are peaks 4,000 feet high within easy walking distance of any part of Honolulu, and on the island of Hawaii there are two mountains fully 14,000 feet in height. Not infrequently the Honolulu schools give picnics on the mountain sides that the pupils may gather land shells. It is on these excursions in search of land shells that the Hawaiian schoolboys revel in the once national sport, mountain sliding.

A very steep mountain side is selected, where the grass is long and sloping downward. Every one gathers his own ti leaves. The ti leaf is something like the banana leaf, but not nearly so long. With a bunch of ti leaves in his hand the first boy steps to the edge of the side, grasps the leaves by the stems in both hands, places the leafy part under him and sits down, gives himself a start and drops down the edge of the scenery like a flash. I was assured that it was an easy matter to regulate the speed of descent by merely grasping the ti stems firmly and lifting them upward, this ecting as a brake. I longed for the thrillest copter to regulate the spe ping down over the edge of a moun-tain and upon my brief sied of ti leaves began the descent. I went fike the It seemed as though my breath would be taken away from me or that I would plunge head over beels, to be dashed to pieces among the trees below. I thought of my brake and drew up on the ti leaves with all my might and came up with a jerk that jarred every bone in my body. There I sat, looking downward almost perpendicularly, held in position only by a few leaves resting on the smooth, slippery grass, but the sliding grass is nearly a foot long, and it is only after it has been repeatedly slidden over and beaten down that it approaches perfection in the eyes of the Hawaiian small boy and sometimes leads to accidents. When, for instance, the thin layer of ti leaves wears out beneath the slide a gentle tug at the stalks parts the sled and sends the slider whizzing downwaid in a most uncomfortable and ungraceful manner, all arms and legs. Lucky is the victim of such an accident if he is not stopped in his downward career by the trunk of a tree.-St. Nicholas.

Judging a Melon.

Is there any way for a purchaser to tell a good melon without cutting and testing it? That is exactly what an expert melon grader is expected to do, to judge the flavor of the melon as well as the size. The best external indication in a netted Gem and melons of similar type is a golden greenish color, the melon being deeply ribbed and thickly overlaid with rather coarse gray netting, the edges of which rise perpendicularly from the surface. The melon should be heavy. There should be no ragged or broken stem to indicate that the melon was torn from the vine before it was ripe enough to part freely. If one follows these points he is pretty sure to get the perfection of melon produced by the quality of the seed planted. If the seed has come from a tasteless melon the result will be disappointing even with thorough culture and the best care in picking and shipping.-Baltimore American.

A WAR TRAGEDY.

Pathetic Incident at the Siege of Port Hudson.

At the siege at Port Hudson, there was one gun commanded by Alphonso Dubreuil. He was a young sugar planter who had opposed seces sion, but maintained that if Louisiana receded he would go with his state. Dr. Chatrand, his neighbor, was a violent secessionist, and Dubreuil and the doctor's daughter Amelia were lovers. Louisiana seceded. Alphonso raised a company and proved so brave a Confederate that the doctor, who had opposed his daughter's marriage, readily consented, and the pair were married.

His bride was accorded special permission to go into the bomb proofs of the fort, where in comparative safety she could be near her husband. There she saw him operating his enormous gun, but her heart was torn with fear for his safety. Suddenly she became excited by the noise of firing and, rushing out from her place of safety, was struck by a piece of shell and fell back lifeless. Dubreuil ran to her side, saw death in her face and went back bravely to his gun.

The next morning was beautiful, and the sun shone gloriously. There was cessation of hostilities that the dead might be buried. Thus engaged, a request came from the enemy to allow

A CREDITABLE NUMBER.

There is no more important question engaging the attention of Canadians today than the great transportation problem and what is being done to enable the abundant products of the farm, forest, flishery and mine to be marketed expeditiously and profitably. The development and expansion of our transportation facilities is the subject of an instructive and timely contribution from Major G. W. Stephens, Chairman of the Montreal Harbor Commission, in the November number of The Busy Man's Magazine. Another article that will be read with interest is "Making Canadian Weather Predictions" by Mr. A. P. McKishnie, who is rapidly forging his way to the front as one of the brightest of young Canadian short story writers, The illustrations are attractive and effective. In both contents and make-up the improvements in Busy Man's will be appreciated, while the selections from the leading magazines and publications of the day will be perused during the long evenings of November with pleasure and profit. The department devoted to what the current editions of the world's periodical press presents cennot fail to be of the greatest help and convenience to the student, the man of affairs or the general reader who desires instruction along special lines and an acquaintance with what is being discovered, thought and written in the various avenues of activity, progress and development.

PE-RU-NA CHEERFULLY RECOMMENDED FOR COLDS AND CATARRIA

A Prominent Canadian Gives His Experience With the World-Famous Remedy For Catarrh.

So Says Dr. Hartman, the Greatest Living Authority On Catarrhal Diseases.

THE first effect of a cold is a thickening of the mucous membranes of the nose and throat.

This gives rise to a discharge, or at least a stuffiness of the nasal passages. Sometimes fever accompanies the first attack, also a feeling of languor, dullness and aching of the bones.

If no attention is paid to it, the mucous congestion is liable to spread down into the larynx, producing hoarseness and into the bronchial tubes, producing a cough.

Even when this occurs, many people pay no attention to it.

Under such circumstances, the congestion is liable to become chronic, producing a condition of the mucous membranes known as catarrh. Catarrh lasts an indefinite time. Catarrh PREVENT CATARRH. is essentially a tion and does not leave except something is done to relieve it.

What should be done when a person catches cold is to take a few doses of Peruna.

Taken at the onset, Pouna would break up the cold and privent all the train of symptoms which is ually follow.

But, even in cases where the cold has been neglected and hoarseness or a cough has developed, Peruna can be relied upon to give prompt and permanent relief.

The frequency of coughs and colds in the winter makes Peruna a popular remedy for these ailments.

A number of the best people of various countries have given testimonials as to the value of Peruna in such cases.

THE PRETZEL.

Its Simple Figure Scheme and Infinite Possibilities of Variety.

The pretzel is one of the most remarkable creations of the human mind and hand. It stands almost alone as an artificial product displaying the countless varieties of form produced by nature in the leaves of trees and blades of grasses. Of the millions upon millions turned out by the pretzel bakeries since the finception of the industry it is not probable that any two were exactly alike..

The general figure scheme of the pretzel must have been an inspiration. It would have been impossible for the human mind to conceive a scheme so simple and yet permitting such approach to infinite variation. Because of the peculiar shape of the pretzel its construction is most easily described by employing sailor men's terms. A "We climbers," he said, "up there on | bight is taken in a roll of dough, and

MOUNT TAHOMA MADE FIRST.

Then Came the Trees, the Birds, the Fishes and All the Animals, With the Grizzly Bear the Last and the Greatest of All-The Origin of Man.

The Indians say that the Great Spirit made Mount Tahoma the first of all. Boring a hole in the sky, using a large stone as an auger, he pushed down snow and ice until they reached the desired height, then stepped from cloud to cloud down to the great icy pile and from it to the earth, where he planted the first trees by merely put-

activity, progress and development. SILENT CRANES.

A Nature Story by One of the Mount Taurus Climbers.

The mountaineer glanced complacently at his hard calves. "We climbers," he said, "up there on the white heights see lots of things worth seeing. I tell you we could if we wanted to outdo the nature fakirs without deviating from the truth. For instance, take the Mount Taurus cranes. Do you know the cranes of Mount Tanrus?

"Well, these birds are great chatterers. They chatter, chatter, chatter, as they fly. Hanged if they're not worse than women! Up on the heights the eagles lie in wait for them, hidden behind crags or ice blocks. They don't have to show themselves at all. Their ears, not their eyes, tell them of the cranes' approach, and, swooping down on those bundles of feathers and noise, they take home a mess of crane for dinner.

"With their chatter and babble and gossip the cranes of Mount Taurus give themselves away in that still air to the eagles, and in all eagle households crane is the staple dish.

"But the old cranes fly without a sound-never a word out of them as they sail and wheel in the blue air. That seems against nature, and it is against nature. The old cranes to restrain their innate love of talk fly with large stones in their mouths.

"Shoot one of these crafty and silent birds and you will find his beak tightly closed upon a large stone."-Ex-

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration.

pretzel must have been an inspiration. It would have been impossible for the human mind to conceive a scheme so simple and yet permitting such approach to infinite variation., Because of the peculiar shape of the pretzel its construction is most easily described by employing saffor men's terms. A bight is taken in a roll of dough, and the ends are given a half twist and brought back upon opposite sides of the bight. This makes the article somewhat heart shaped. There can have been no sentimental reason for this shape, for there is no product of art or nature further removed from the realm of sentiment than is the pretzel. The finished article looks as if it had been varnished and exposed to a sandstorm before the varnish dried.

The pretzel is unique as an article of internal use. It cannot be classed as food or drink. It is not a dessert, nor is it a medicine. Perhaps:it should be classed as an appetizer—an appetizer not for food, but for drink, and therein lies its uniqueness. It is the great thirst producer. It is the third of a Sahara done up in a twist of dough. If any one could invent something that would quench thirst as effectively as the pretzel can produce it his fortune would be made.

The home of the pretzel is Germany, where it is called bretzel or pretzel, according to whether it is in north Germany or south Germany, but in America it is pretzel all the time, whether in North America or South America. The name is commonly regarded as being derived from words in the Latin language meaning bracelet. But Germans are not fond of taking words from the Latin tongues. Perhaps the pretzel owes its name to the fact that it is baked on, a flat, boardlike surface. The German word for board is brett.

READING THE STARS.

An Author's Mastery of the Science of Navigation.

"By the end of the week, teaching myself." writes Jack London, in . Harper's Weekly of his mastery of the science of navigation, "I was able to do divers things. For instance, I shot the North star, at nig +, of course got its altitude, corrected for indexperror, dip. etc., and found our latitude. And this latitude agreed with the latitude of the previous noon corrected by dead reckoning up to that moment. Proud? Well, I was even prouder with my next miracle. I was going totturn in at 9 o'clock. I worked out the problem self instructed and learned what star of the first magnitude would be passing the meridian around half past. S. This star proved to be Alpha Crucis. I had never heard of the star before. I looked it up on the star map. It was one of the stars of the Southern Cross. What, thought I! Have we been sailing with the Southern Cross in the sky of nights and never known it? Dolts:that we are! Gudgeons and moles! I couldn't believe it. I went over the problem again and verified it. Charmian had the wheel from S till 10 that evening. I told her to keep her eyes open and look due south for the Southern Cross, and when the stars came out there shone the Southern Cross low on the horizon. Proud? No medicine man nor high priest was ever pronder. Furthermore, with the prayer wheel I shot Alpha Crucis and from its altitude worked out our latitude, and still furthermore I shot the North star, too, and it agreed with what had been told me by the Southern Cross. Proud? Why, the language of the stars was mine, and I listened and heard them telling me my way over the deep.

The Indians say that the Great Spirit made Mount Tahoma the first of all. Boring a hole in the sky, using a large stone as an auger, he pushed down snow and ice until they reached the desired height, then stepped from cloud to cloud down to the great ley pile and from it to the earth, where he planted the first trees by merely putting his finger into the soil here and The sun began to melt the there. snow, the snow produced water, the water ran down the side of the mountain, refreshed the trees and made rivers. The Great Spirit gathered the leaves that fell from the trees, blew upon them, and they became birds. He took a stick and broke it into pieces. Of the small end he made fishes, and of the middle of the stick he made animals, the grizzly bear excepted, which he formed from the big end of the stick, appointing him to be master over all the others.

Indeed, this animal grew so large, strong and cunning that the Creater somewhat feared him and so hollowed out Mount Tahoma as a wigwam for himself where he might reside while on earth in the most perfect security and comfort. So the smoke was soon to be seen curling up from the mountain where the Great Spirit and his family lived and still live, though their hearth fire is alight no longer, now that the white man is in the land. This was thousands of snows ago.

After this came a late and severe springtime, in which a memorable storm blew up from the sea, shaking the huge lodge to its base. The Great Spirit commanded his daughter, then little more than an infant, to go up and bid the wind to be still, cautioning her at the same time not to put her head out into the blast, but only to thrust out her little arm and make a sign before she delivered her message.

The eager child hastened up to the hole in the roof, did as she was told and then turned to descend, but her curiosity impelled her to look at the forbidden world outside and the rivers and treees, at the far ocean and the great waves that the storm had made as hoary as the forest when the snow is on the firs. So she stopped and put out her head to look. Instantly the storm took her by the long hair and blew her down to the earth, down the mountain side, over the smooth ice-and soft snow, down to the land of the grizzly bears.

Now, the grizzly bears were then somewhat different from what they are at the present time. In appearance, it is true, they were much the same, but they walked then on their hind legs like men and talked and carried clubs, using the fore limbs as men use their arms. At the foot of the more ain, at the place where the child was blown to, lived a family of grizzlies. The father grizzly was returning from the hunt with his club on his shoulder and a young elk in his hand when he saw the shivering little waif lying on the snow with her hair all tangled about her.

The old grizzly, pitying and wondering at the strange, forlorn creature, lifted it up and carried it in to his wife to see what should be done. She, too, was pitiful and fed it from her own breast, bringing it up as one of their family. So the daughter of the Great Spirit grew up, and the eldest son of the old grizzly married her, and their offspring was neither grizzly nor Great Spirit, but man .- Forest and Stream.

THE GRACEFUL ART OF BEING APPRECIAT

for social success as the art of being appreciative. And this does not mean flattery nor gushing ways, but at heart, truly appreciating courtosies however small, and knowing just how to express that appreciation.

The world over, men and women, love to be appreciated, to have their goodpoints noted, their favors or kindnesses received with thanks, not accepted as a matter of course, and their hospitality enjoyed. In the great social game there are many persons, alas, both young and old, who accept all enter-tainment, all courtesies as if these tainment, all courtesies as if these were due them, simply because they are in the social swim, and in time intend to return them.

The beautiful girl thinks that the world will bow to her whether she appreciates it or not. The rich girl knows she can repay social courtesies: And oftimes the homely girl of small purse is so busy trying to keep up appearances that she fails to remember that graceful appreciation will cover a multitude of physical defects or the fact that her frocks are not quite up to date.

"I do love to entertain Grace Bremarked the mistress of a charming country residence." Another woman who teaches in one of the country's greatest colleges for women found that she could secure leave of absence to enjoy part of the opera season in New York. She made her stay one long orgy of opera. made no effort to adjust herself to the family or social life of her hostess. She talked music, read music, and lived music every moment while she was in the home, and then dashed back to her college work. About two months later she sent a hasty scrawl to her hostess, apologizing for her tardiness in an-nouncing her safe return, "but you know how busy I am," she concluded.

A few months later, her hostess

A story which throws into the 1 h shade the daring exploits of novel-ette heroes was unfolded in the court at Madrid the other day.

The prisoner was Emil San Pedro, a gallant-looking young fellow, who had been arrested for illegally wearing military uniform. His adventures consisted of a long series of impersonations which, owing to an attractive manner and a firstclass education, gained him the entry to the best society.

Some time ago he took the name of Villaamil, son of the illustrious hero of Santiago de Cuba, and succeeded in winning the affections of a British officer's young daughter at Gibraltar. The engagement was officially announced, and the fraud was discovered just in time to prevent the marriage.

THE MAKING AND MARRING OF FORMULAS

proprietary creams and lotions, which they sell at reasonable prices, there is a great satisfaction in mixing formulas at home, because you are sure of the ingredients, and it is really dainty work. If directions are followed closely and common sense used in large doses, the results will generally be satisfactory, but if in-gredients are thrown together carelessly without any regard to assimila-tion, the results are disastrous.

There is undoubtedly a knack in working out formulas at home, just as there are successful cake bakers and those who turn out a pan of heavy sweetened dough. The old colored mammy who had made beaten biscuits all her life, when asked how she made them, said: "Why. I just takes 'em and I makes 'em," but she knew how to take 'em to make 'em successfully.

Fat of some kind is the basts of all creams, as this article is needed to has become a deep rose color, then feed the porcs. All creams are trou- strain it through a medium coarse blesome to make, because they require careful mixing and incessant beating. In making all creams and emulsions, the manner of manipulation is about the same. The fats and the oils must be mixed together and they should be melted, not put over the fire and boiled. Take for instance the follow-ing formula:—Kentucky Cold Cream. Here is a face cream which I can rec-

Let it get slightly cool, and stir in slowly the Balsam, beat it up thoroughly and then stand aside for a few minutes to sottle in the bottom of the bowl. Pour off the clear portion, and to the remainder in the bowl beat in the oil of cloves, drop by drop, stirring or beating constantly for several minutes.

THE S. S. LESSON

INTERNATIONAL LESSON, NOV. 1.

Lesson V. Absalom Rebels Against David. Golden Text, Exed. 20, 12, Verse 1. After this-After Absalom's restoration to favor with his father, reported in the closing verses of the preceding chapter.

A chariot and horses, and men to run before him-Marks of royalty belonging properly to the successor to the throne. Compare the similar pretensions of Adonijah reported in lesson for November 22.

2. Beside the way of the gate -The gate to the king's palace, near which the king, according to Oriental custom, was wont to transact business, especially such as related to judicial matters.

Said, Thy servant is of one of the tribes of Israel—The author's way of stating that each person ques-tioned by Absalom stated from which of the tribes he came, giving the name.

3. Thy matters are good and right; but—Absalom employs the usual arts of the demagogue in currying the favor of the people.

4. Oh that I were made judge-A bold plea for the confidence and support of those whom Absalom thus addressed:

6. To all Israel—To people from all parts of the kingdom.

Stole the hearts of the men of Israel-The word "heart" in Hetrew psychology referred to the seat of the intellect and conscience, rather than of feeling. The sense of this statement, therefore, would seem to be that Absalom deceived and led astray his father's subjects, awakening in their minds suspicions against his father, the king, though, perhaps, not in any great degree captivating their affections.
7. Forty — Perhaps the word

"four" should be substituted for "forty" as it is in some ancient Syriac manuscripts, and also in some editions of the Septuagint, that is, the earliest Greek translation of the Old Testament. The narrator is dating, probably, from the time of the final reconciliation of Absalom with his father referred to in the preceding chapter.

8. Geshur-A district east of the Jordan, where, during the period of his late alienation from his father (2 Sam. 14), Absalom had for a time dwelt in exile.

Syria-Hebrew, Aram. So called after the name of the fifth son of Shem, from whom the original inhabitants of Syria were said to have been the descendants.

10. Sent spies-Secret emissaries, whose mission it was to sow among the people everywhere the seeds of disaffection toward the reigning king.

Hebron - About twenty miles scuthwest of Jerusalem. The city in which David was first proclaimeo king over the tribe of Judah.

12. Ahithophel the Gilonite - A native of Giloh, a small town six or seven miles northwest of Hebron. According to 2 Sam. 11. 3, taken together with 23, 34, this man was the grandfather of Bath-sheba and usually ascribed to a desire to avenge the disgrace in which David had involved his family. blesome to make, because they require strainer. Let it get slightly cool, and careful mixing and incessant beating. In making all creams and emulsions, the manner of manipulation is about the same. The fats and the oils must be mixed together and they should be melted, not put over the fire and boiled. Take for instance the following formula:-Kentucky Cold Cream. Here is a face cream which I can rec-ommend thoroughly because it contains no animal fat to induce a growth of hair on the face.

Rose water, 4 ounces; almond oil, 4 ounces; spermaceti, 1 ounce; white wax, 1 ounce; tincture of benzoin, 1

Into a double boiler put the almond oil, and add to it the white wax and spermaceti, which have been chopped fine. Let these melt, but not boil. The water in the lower vessel must just simmer, never boil. Turn them out into a bowl and boat briskly with an egg beater or a fork, scraping down the sides of the bowl constantly, and keep on beating until it is all cresmed and absolutely smooth. When the mix-ture has cooled, add the rose water and the benzoin, drop by drop, beating meanwhile without ceasing until the cream is quite cold. If the odor of rosewater is not liked, you can substitute lilac or violet water in its Oxide of Zinc ointment is perhaps one of the best cure-alls that could be found in the family medicine closet. It can be made at home, but care must be taken in the mixing. It is very healing for any sores upon the face or hands, it is excellent for an itchy scalp and is invaluable in cases of scalds and burns.

Spermaceti, 1% ounces; white wax, % ounce; almend oil, % pint; and sufficient quantity of oxide of zinc. As in making the Kentucky cream, the oil must be put in double boiler,and the spermadeti and white wax added in finely chopped pieces. When melted they must be beaten in a bowl, until a percarofully measure, and to every six parts take one part of oxide of zinc in a fine powder. Take one-quarter of the ointment and with a wooden paddle or email wooden spopn rub the zinc thoroughly into it, then add the remainder of the ointment little by little until all mixed, but stir constantly until cold.

All creams and pomades should be put up in small porcelain or glass jars, stir in slowly the Balsam, beat it up thoroughly and then stand aside for a few minutes to settle in the bottom of the bowl. Pour off the clear portion, and to the remainder in the bowl beat in the oil of cloves, drop by drop, stirring or beating constantly for several

Perhaps a simpler home remfor darkening the hair is as follows: Into an iron pot (absolutely no other kind will do) put a goodly measure of potato parings, and cover them with cold water. Let them come to a boil slowly, and continue to boil until soft and mushy. Strain the water through cheesecloth, and when cold apply to the hair with an old brush, letting the lotion dry on the hair in the sunlight. This will discolor the part in the hair, and care should be taken to scrub the part clean before the lotion dries on. In making all col-oring matter, wear old kid gloves or rubber ones, for they will stain the hands.

There are two ways of extracting the juice from cucumbers-an ingredient with great natural whitening powers for the complexion. One way, is to select cucumbers ripe enough for table use. The second manner is to slice the cucumbers very thin, skin and all, and put them in a porcelain stew pan. just a little water to them and let them simmer gently for a long time, until soft and mushy. ### Favorite Sport-in New South Wales -Breaking the Animals.

Whether "brumby" is a survival of the aboriginal name for a wild horse or a corruption of "unbrandappears to be a question which philologists have left undecided, but brumby hunting is still a favorite sport in New South Wales, says the London Standard.

Districts like the Clarence and Stephens and Manning River watershed are still the home of numerous droves of brumbies, and hunting them is declared to be a very exhilarating pastime. The first step taken is to stake out a corral and make all secure except a narrow entrance, which can subsequently be gated. On either side of the entrance and projecting from it funnelwise a "booby fence" is prepared.

To the simple minded brumby it presumably looks like a stockade, and pieces of fluttering cotton make it look impregnable. When this is ready the young bloods, well mountcd, gallop out and round up the which King I wild horses, driving them with ly 2,300,000. shouts and much loud snapping of If a woma stock whips toward the mouth of

In a group of brumbies there is always a leader, and when once the hunters have got the leader for the corral they are pretty certain of the rest of the drove. The fluttering cotton rags of the sham fence are sufficient to deter the brumbies from breaking through the flimsy barriers, and in less time than it takes to tell the wild horses are safely corralled and the big gate shut on them.

Then they are left for four and wenty hours without food and water to reflect on the situation, and after that they can be broken in without much difficulty.

The fear of death, which has been so enormously exploited in dramatic literature, sacred and otherwise, is said to be almost without existence in sickness. Most patients have lost it completely by the time they become seriously ill.

COOLGARDIE GOLDFITLDS.

Their Discovery Was the Reward of Perseverance.

In the history of gold-digging and gold-finding many a romantic and tragic story is to be found. Few of these stories, however, possess more interest than that of how the famous Coolgardie mines, in Western Australia, were discovered in 1892—mines which have since yielded millions of dollars' worth of gold. Luck played a great part in the discovery, but it was the reward of perseverance.

In April, 1892, two Victorian miners, named Bayley and Ford, struck cut for the North-East of Australia, but after traversing 250 miles they but after traversing 250 miles they lest their horses and had to turn back. Equipped with fresh horses, they started again on what proved to be a long, tedious, and futile journey, for once more they were forced to turn back—this time for want of water. The third attempt won them fame and fortune.

First they found that which to them was more precious than goldnamely, water. They found a natural well, known to the scattered tribes of that far-away country as "Coolgardie." Pitching their camp beside the well, they turned their horses out to feed and started prospecting the country around. Ford picked up a half-ounce nugget, and before night they had gathered in over twenty ounces of gold. Two or three weeks' more surface prospecting was rewarded with over two hundred ounces. By this time food supplies had given out, so, keeping their own counsel concerning their discoveries, they returned to civilization, laid in a fresh stock of provisions, and hastened back to their El Dorado.

Within a few days of their return they happened upon the reef that made Coolgardie. Beginning with a "slug" weighing 50 ozs., they picked out from a cap of that reef in a few hours upwards of 500 cunces of gold. Bayley, carrying 554 ounces of gold, journeyed back to the nearest mining town, exhibited his find to the Mining Warden, put in a claim for a lease of the land on which this marvellous discovery had ben made, and hurried on to the field again with a party | n that numbered 150 men, besides ccaches and horses, and all the paraphernalia of prospecting and camping. In their wake in course and of time came gold-seekers in hundreds and thousands. From Bayley and Ford's mine there was taken in the first nine years of its history 134,000 ouces of gold, valued at $z,-650,000.

Almost as sensational as Coolgardie were the Londonderry and Wealth of Nations "finds." The Londonderry was discovered by a party of unsuccessful prospectors on their way back to Coolgardie.
Two of them picked up some rich After a n gold-bearing specimens. After a brief search the outcrop of a reef was exposed, from which, in the course of a few days, they took out from 4,000 ounces to 5,000 ounces of gold. From the cap of the Wealth of Nations reef, gold to the value of $100,000 was secured in a few

The fort is of considerable size, surrounded by an earthen moat, inside which is what is locally called a Druid circle, composed of hundreds of stones. Early this year, when some of the stones were being carted away for building purposes, a cinerery urn was discovered, and since May 2, thirteen separate graves have been found in the fort, each with its urn, most of which were smashed during the digging. The largest of the graves is about three feet square, and is assumed to belong to the chief, and in were found two round flint balls, weighing from 2 to 21/2 ounces, and a large number of flint spear heads. The fort is evidently a cemetery of the stone age, and it is highly desirable that the authorities should take immediate steps to preserve it from demolition, and carry out systematic extavation so that the antiquarian treasures may be preserved intact. It is interesting, in connection with the proposal to carry out an extensive afforestration scheme on these moorlands, to note that the fort is on the slope of the Crockynell, 825 feet above sea levcl. and a few hundred yards from the Owen Killen river-the river of the wood-an etmological proof of the existence of forests in the dis- vine. trict in ancient times.

SUGAR AS A DISINFECTANT

Beneficial Results of a Practice Once Thought Superstitious.

In many parts of Europe it is customary among the people to burn sugar in sick-rooms, a practice which is considered by physicians as an innocent superstition, neither beneficial nor harmful.

Prof. Trilbert of the Pasteur Institute at Paris has, however, de-monstrated recently that burning sugar develops formic acetylene hy drogen, one of the most powerful antiseptic gases known. Five grams of sugar (77.16 grains) were burned under a glass bell holding ten quarts. After the vapor had cooled hacilli of typhus, tuberculosis, cholera, smallpox, etc., were placed in the bell in open glass tubes, and within half an hour all the microbes were dead.

If the sugar is burned in a closed vessel containing putrefied meat or the contents of rotten eggs the offensive odor disappears at once The popular faith in the disinfecting qualities of burnt sugar appears therefore to be well founded.

EMGLAND'S UNEMPLOYED IN MERRY OLD ENGLAND

A WINTER OF GREAT DISTRESS 18 PREDICTED.

Thousands Parade Streets and Serious Outbreaks are Certain to Come.

England is face to face with the most serious condition of unemploy-ment in her history, and unless relief is provided on an unprecedent-ed scale during the coming winter, bread riots may be expected in many of the principal cities, writes a London correspondent. Already the mutterings of discontent have been heard and in Glasgow, at least, bloodshed was only prevented a few days ago by the prompt action of the authorities in yielding to the demands of the workless men and starting relief works.

Unemployment has been growing in England for many years and about three years ago it reached such a point that Parliament passed a bill in a hurry, empowering local authorities to levy a tax for the purpose of providing work for their unemployed. The amount of the tax, however, is strictly limited and it must have the approval of the local government board, the head of which is a member of the cabinet, before it may be levied. This met the situation

The procession of unemployed disappeared from the streets, and in the parks and other public places groups of men could be seen doing has broken down. It is clearly evident already that the powers conferred on the local authorities under the act will be totally inadequate to relieve the immense number of unemployed workmen who are clamoring for work or food and whose numbers will be increased as the weather becomes more severe. The following are the approximate numbers of unemployed reported in some of the principal cites in the middle of September:

London	200,000
Leeds	3,000
Liverpool	25,000
Glasgow	20,000
Bristol	2,000
Manchester	11,000
Belfast	10,000
Dundee	5,000
Sheffield	12,000
Sunderland	13,000

SOCIALISTS ARE BUSY.

The most dangerous feature of the situation is the bold attitude adopted by the leads of these idle men. Socialism has made great strides in England of recent years and the English workman is no longer con-tented "with that station of life to which God has called him." He no longer accepts starvation and cold as acts of God. He now demands the right to work and the right to live and if he is denied them he is

THE LEGAL VIEW.

Curious Breach of Promise Laws in Other Countries.

England is the best place-from the plaintiff's point of view-for a breach of promise action. All other countries seem to regard with grave suspicion any attempt to recover monetary compensation for the loss of a prospective husband, and un-less the plaintiff has a very strong case indeed it is never worth her while to carry her grief into the law courts, says London Tit-Bits.

In France breach of promise cases are rare for the simple reason that the law requires the plaintiff to prove that she has suffered pecuniary loss. Now this is not an easy thing to do on the part of the lady, especially in a country where a girl without a dot—that is a mar-riage portion—has a poor chance of finding a husband. Holland and Austria have adopted the French system, and the result has been about the same. Breach actions are rare, the injured damsels or their relatives usually taking the law into their own hands.

Practical Germany, as might be expected, has perhaps the best method for solving this problem. When a young couple become engaged they have to go through a public betrothal ceremony that ought to knock all the shyness out of them. In the local town hall the pair declare their affection, willingness to marry, etc., ending by signing a collection of documents that apparently leave no loophole for escape.

But if either party to the contract wishes to withdraw another journey is undertaken to the town hall and another collection of documents signed, witnessed and sealed. Then the authorities determine the ques-tion of compensation—should it be claimed. In this connection it may Le said that the man can, and often does, claim a solatium for his wounded feelings. The usual award is one-fifth of the marriage dowry. It is easy to understand, when all this is remembered, how loath the young people of Germany are to heak their betrothal oaths.

As the law of Italy offers little or no protection whatever to jilted damsels and swains it is not surprising that the stiletto should be the favorite mode of deciding breach of promise cases. The Italian law demands that the person suing for "breach" shall produce a written promise to marry from the defendant; otherwise the action cannot proceed. This difficulty is almost insurmountable, and the Italian judges are seldom troubled to adjudicate between one time lovers.

To bring an action for breach of promise, of marriage against a reigning monarch is an achievement, but it has been done, and by Mr. "Willie" Gardener, the an English lady. It is now fifteen Yorkshire draughts champion, has years since Miss Jenny Mighell sued the Sultan of Johore, and as there was a doubt whether the dusky one was actually a reigning monarch the case was allowed to come While Mrs. Hawken of Islington, into court. But the Judge quickly as filling an oil lamp by the light disposed of the action by ruling it inadmissible for the reason referred to and Miss Mighell was nonsuited. It is remarkable that one of the two actions which have brought verdicts of £10,000 each to the plaintiffs should have had for its defendant the editor of a matrimonial paper. The second case was be-tween a well known actress and the eldest son of an Earl.

LETTER OF CONDOLENCE.

Selby, Ont. MRS. LEAH RUSSELL.

The members of Sub. Court, Selby, The members of Sub. Court, Selby, No. 1899, and Comp. Court, Selby, No. 817, Brethern and companions of our late Brother, J. I. Russell, deceased, desire to convey to you their deepest sympathy in your sad bereavment. It is with heartfelt sorrow we record his early demise and regret the loss of such a two public and christian bather and a true, noble and christian brother and good citizen.

It is however consoling to reflect that beyond this fleeting scene there is a world in which farewells are never spoken and all tears are wiped away.

To that happier home the pardner of your joys has been called away and your loss is his gain.

May your faith in him who doeth all things well, sustain and comfort you. Signed on behalf of the members of the Courts.

Death at Deseronto.

For a period of five months John Jacob Detlor had been a sufferer from cancer of the bowel, and after suffering fearfully for this long period death came to him last Saturdav, the 17th, as a relief. With Christian fortitude his agony was borne without complaint. The funeral took place at two o'clock on Monday afternoon,'religious services being conducted at the house by Rev. G. H. Copeland, pastor of the Methodist church. A large gathering of relatives and friends was present to tender their sympathy by their presence at the last to one whom all respected while alive. The remains were conveyed to Morven, to be laid in the family plot there. Mr. Detlor was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Byron Detlor, of Hawley. He was sixty-five years and four months of age. In the year 1871 he married Miss Mary Ann Fralick, of Morven, who survives him. Of this union there were two sons and three daughters, two of the latter and one of the former having died some yearsago. Those surviving are Miss Ettie B. and Harry B., both at home. Three brothers and two sisters—George, of Odessa; Delu, of Dakota; Perry, of Hawley, and Mrs. Clark Mallory, of Cobourg, survive. After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Detlor lived at Hawley for twelve years, going from there to Adolphustown and Napanee, spending a short time in each place. About twelve years ago they came to town, where they have remained since, Inreligion he was a member of the Methodist church and in volities a consensation. For a period of five months John Jacob Detlor had been a sufferer from years ago they came to town, where they have remained since, Inreligion he was a member of the Methodist church, and in politics a conservative. He was a member of the A. O. U. W., being affiliated with the lodge at Bath. -Deseronto Tribune.

Equal to the Occasion.

Michelot, the famous comedian, suffered a great deal from the spite of his colleagues and found it necessary to be on the alert at every performance. On a certain occasion he had to scold a servant in one of Moliere's plays, when the "claque," which had been bribed by his rivals, began to hiss.

Michelot was by no means disconcerted. Giving the servant a couple of blows on the ear, not included in the part, he extemporized as follows:

"You vile scamp of a varlet, there is nothing you think of! There you stand quietly listening to the vermin squeaking in the house and never trouble yourself to get the rat poison!"

The effect of this sally was striking. The audience broke out in loud applause, and no subsequent attempt was made to hiss the actor.

Helping Him On.

The somewhat elderly but still handsome and well preserved bachelor had long been an admirer of the young lady, but never had dared to tell her At last, however, he mustered courage to say:

"Miss Jessie, I wish I were twenty years younger."

'Why so?' she asked.

"Because then I should be bold enough perhaps to ask you to marry me."

With a charming smile she shook her head.

"I should have to tell you no, Mr. Baxter," she said. "If you were twenty years younger you would be-er-a great deal too young for me."

He took the hint-and a little while later the young lady too.

Missed the Combination. He is one of those gushing old beaus who think flattery the key to favor with the gentler sex. The other evening" he was at a reception with his wife, and they met the handsome Miss Blank, at whom he fired a whole battery of compliments. Then, turning to his wife, he said, "It's a good thing I didn't meet her before I married you, my dear."

"Indeed it is," she smiled sweetly-"for her. I congratulate Miss Blank." -Exchange,
